

ABSTRACT

A stereoscopic viewing system including a raw image having overlaid thereover a distance D therefrom a mask the mask including opaque strips, therein
5 arranged so as to overlay portions of respective right and left image strips. In a particular version opaque strips are included as part of the raw image and also as part of the mask or both.